

MinersBuddy

EXAM PREPARATION

COMPLETE EXAM SYLLABUS

GAS TESTING CERTIFICATE

Metalliferous Mines | Certificate of Competency

Under Metalliferous Mines Regulations, 1961

5

Syllabus topics

1

Exam per year

Syllabus at a Glance

Syllabus for the examination for the Gas Testing Certificate of Competency under the Metalliferous Mines Regulations, 1961, as given in the Annexure to the DGMS bye-laws.

NO.	OFFICIAL SYLLABUS TEXT	KEY AREAS
1	Occurrence of gases in mines, their properties and physiological effects; detection and measurement	• Occurrence of mine gases • Properties of gases • Physiological effects • Detection and measurement
2	Use of gas detectors such as methanometers, Multi Gas Detectors, Toximeter, Oximeter, Explosimeter, etc. for detection of mine gases	• Methanometer • Multi Gas Detector • Toximeter • Oximeter • Explosimeter
3	Effect of inflammable gas in different percentages and the difference between combustion and explosion	• Effect of inflammable gas at different percentages • Combustion vs. explosion
4	Construction, assembly and working principle of flame safety lamp, methods of testing for inflammable gas with a flame safety lamp	• Construction and assembly of flame safety lamp • Working principle • Testing for inflammable gas
5	Provisions of the Metalliferous Mines Regulations 1961 made under the Mines Act, 1952, relating to safety lamps and to the presence of inflammable and noxious gas in a mine	• MMR 1961 provisions on safety lamps • MMR 1961 provisions on inflammable and noxious gas

Source: Annexure to the bye-laws, DGMS/EXAMS/MMR/BYE LAWS/2021/1, Board of Mining Examination (Gazette of India, Part II, Section 3(i)). The first column follows the official wording; key areas are a study breakdown of the same text.

i

Examination Rules at a Glance

- Candidates must conduct themselves as required by the Secretary while appearing in the examination.
- Electronic gadgets such as mobiles and laptops must not be in the candidate's possession in the exam hall.
- A false or counterfeit certificate, false declaration or unfair means can lead to disqualification and debarment from later examinations for a specified period.
- If a successful candidate is found to have submitted a false certificate or false declaration, the Board may cancel the result or withdraw the certificate.
- Final results, as approved by the Board, are announced by the Secretary on a date fixed by the Board.
- The examination is held once a year, as far as practicable.
- If English and Hindi versions of the bye-laws differ, the English version prevails.